Supporters salute this multicity pair of "funky, non-pickup places", another "success story for Kent Rathbun" (of Dallas' Abacus); the "dramatic dining spaces" in Plano and suburban Houston are peopled by "hip, young crowds" downing fare "billed as" "gourmet" "backyard cookin'" from a "menu focused on the best of [New] American cuisine"; N.B. the Houston location opened post-Survey.

A "crown jewel of high-end, new-style dining", this "chic" Knox-Henderson "favorite" from "genius" co-owners Robert Hoffman and chef Kent Rathbun is a "proven winner" that's ranked Most Popular among Dallas/Ft. Worth restaurants thanks to "inventive", "fabulous" Eclectic fare, "divine service" and a "modern" and "elegant" (if somewhat "loud") interior; a few outsiders opine that the "excellent staff" is "a tad snooty" "if you're not a regular", but a vocal majority maintains that it's "always a treat."
